13 To help clarify your eligibility, refer to some of the scenarios below which are non-exhaustive.
13.1 During the Campaign period, User A withdrew RM100 on the first day (from any gains eg previously earned stock rewards, interest, dividends etc.), deposited RM4,900 on the second day, and deposited another RM100 on the third day. There were no further withdrawals or deposits in the subsequent period. Therefore, this user will not receive the reward because Net Cumulative Deposit = – RM100 + RM4,900 + RM100 = RM4,900, which does not meet the deposit condition.

13.2 During the Campaign period, User B deposited RM6,000 on the first day, withdrew RM2,000 on the second day, and deposited RM3,000 on the third day. Therefore, the user will not receive the reward because the Net Cumulative Deposit has dropped to RM4,000 on the second day which does not meet the maintain condition.

13.3 During the Campaign period, User C deposited RM3,000 on Day 1. Subsequently, User C deposited an additional RM1,000 and RM1,000 on Day 3 and Day 6, respectively. The 60-day net deposit maintenance period begins on the day when User C meets the RM5,000 net deposit threshold, which in this case is Day 6 of the Campaign.

13.4 During the Campaign period, User D deposited RM5,000 and fully utilised this amount for trading activities. Following the trades, the account value decreased to RM2,500. Despite the decrease in value, User D remains eligible to receive the reward.

13.5 User E deposited RM10,000 during the Campaign period and utilised RM5,000 for trading purposes. Subsequently, User E made a withdrawal of RM5,000 at some point during the Campaign period within the 60-day net deposit maintenance period. Despite the withdrawal, User E remains eligible to receive the reward.

13.6 User F deposited RM5,000 during the Campaign period but subsequently withdrew RM4,000 at a certain point within the Campaign period within the 60-day net deposit maintenance period. Due to the net deposit falling to RM1,000 after the withdrawal, User F is disqualified from receiving the reward.

13.7 User G deposited RM5,000 during the campaign period. User G received interest of RM10. User G withdrew the RM10 interest within the 60-day net deposit maintenance period. User G is disqualified from receiving the reward because we consider the Net Cumulative Deposit to be RM4,990, despite the actual balance in the Trading Account being RM5,000.

13.8 User H has never made a prior deposit. Even if User H has withdrawn rewards received from a previous referral campaign, User F remains eligible to receive the reward under this Campaign, provided that no prior deposit has been made.

Redemption of Rewards

14 No redemption action is required. Eligible rewards will be automatically credited to your account within fifteen (15) business days. You may monitor your progress on the landing page or navigate to the "My Rewards" section to review the delivery date.
